Lord, For Thy Tender Mercy’s Sake

John Bull (c. 1562 – 1628)

Richard Farrant (1530 – 1580)

Copyright © 2005 Dan Foster - Aoede Consort

Lord, for thy tender mercy’s sake, lay not our sins to our charge, but forgive that is past, and give us grace to amend our sinful lives. To decline from sin, and incline to virtue, that we may walk in an upright heart, cline to virtue, that we may walk in an upright heart, that we may cline to virtue, that we may walk in an upright heart, that we may walk in an upright heart, we may walk in an upright heart, that we may that we may walk in an upright heart, that we may walk in an upright heart, that we may walk in an upright heart, that we may walk in an upright heart before thee now and evermore,

that we may walk in an upright heart before thee now and evermore,

that we may walk in an upright heart before thee now and evermore, that we may

that we may walk in an upright heart before thee now and evermore, that we may